School of Digital Media Arts

Creativity abounds in the School of Digital Media Arts which encompasses the disciplines of animation, graphic design, web design and development, photography and digital video. The programs in Digital Media Arts introduce students to foundational skills in these disciplines and prepare them for creative jobs.

Washtenaw Community College offers programs at several levels for students who want to begin new careers, or advance in their existing careers. The first level is the certificate, which can vary from nine to thirty-six credits, depending on the field. Certificates generally prepare students for entry-level jobs.

The next level, an Associate Degree, is available for some programs. Credit hours from the certificate can be applied to the credit hours needed for the Associate Degree.

Digital Video

Complete one of these programs to learn how to create digitized video productions for the Web and other presentation forms.

Subject: Re: Rational for removing courses from VID programs

Joy,

We ran VID 180 once with 6 students. The room (TI 223) was never fully completed as a 'television studio.' These original plans were never fully implemented. The additional resources that it would take to outfit our studio as a 'TV' studio would come at an enormous cost. Maintaining a fully outfitted television studio would also require an engineer to manage the area. And, finally, the demand and interest in television production is down. Studios continue to exist, but career options in this area are limited, unless the student is interested in broadcast news - which is not our forte here at WCC.

This explains VID 180 & VID 185. VID 220 & 250 were placed on hiatus while Dan and I are working to upgrade and make our curriculum current.

Hope this helps. Any further questions, please feel free to reach out.

Matt

Subject: Rational for removing courses from VID programs

Hi Matt:

I took the program changes for CTDVPC, CVDVAP and AADVP to Kim for her review today. She asked a question that I was unable to answer. Can you please help?

For the various programs you are removing VID 180, 185, 220 and 250. You list the rationale for these as ""Discontinued – Funding Maintenance Costs". Kim wasn't aware of any funding issues in the department. Then I went and looked at the rationale for the course inactivation's. They ranged from "course never offered/only offered once" to "no longer valid".

We really don't want to have documents that don't align in the rationale. Which one is correct or is there a phrase that is more appropriate? If it has to do with funding, what is the issue?

Thanks so much for your help. As soon as I get this resolved, we'll get the program changes moved through the approval process.

joy

Rationale for proposed changes or discontinuation: ENG 107 to be used for an Associate in Applied Science Program – Digital Video is an Associate in Arts degree program. ENG 226 has no similar restriction and is a good fit for video program – (See catalog – page 72).

Financial/staffing/equipment/space implications: None

Program Features Program's purpose and its goals. Criteria for entry into the program, along with projected enrollment figures. Connection to other WCC programs, as well as accrediting agencies or professional organizations. Special features of the program.	An Associate Degree in Digital Video Production would provide students with a deeper specialized training that would develop proficiency level in advanced and professional video productions. An emphasis will be put toward integrating content creation with web integration. Upon completion students will have working skills with a variety of internet compression codecs as well as the ability to create programs. Students who apply and enter into the program follow the same guidelines as students pursuing entry into the certificate program. Once the updated curriculum is in place, anticipated enrollment would be approximately 250-300 students—phased in over a three-year period. Once a student completes the required core video courses, they would have the option to concentrate their coursework in a specialized area. They could pursue advanced editing, videography, DVD media-convergence, audio or lighting—all of which will ultimately be used for web-based media integration.
Need Need for the program with evidence to support the stated need.	The area of video production is rapidly growing due to the popularity and proven effectiveness of television, movies, DVD production and multimedia used for the internet. With high quality digital video production and equipment now widely available, the demand for content creation and skilled media professionals is a continually expanding market. Many businesses, educational institutions, and organizations are finding it difficult to hire personnel with the necessary skills that enable them to produce professional content as well as output to various mediums, whether it is DVD, the internet, or corporate intranets. By training students in specialized areas of production (editing, videography, lighting, web-media, etc.), they will be trained, job-ready and marketable for this ever-increasing demand. Skills in web-based video production in particular, are in highest demand.

Program Outcomes/Assessment	Outcomes	Assessment method
State the knowledge to be gained, skills to be learned, and attitudes to be developed by students in the program. Include assessment methods that will be used to determine the effectiveness of the program.	1. Students will develop skills that will give them the ability to produce a variety of media productions. This will include advertisements, public service ads, dramas, instructional/informational productions, entertainment productions, and documentary productions. 2. Additionally students will be required to produce a professional portfolio of their work which will then be evaluated by professionals currently working in their respective fields	1. Assessment will be provided by a professional committee evaluating the required portfolio.

Assessment plan:

Program outcomes to be assessed	Assessment tool	When assessment will take place	Courses/other populations	Number students to be assessed
	Portfolio evaluation.	One year after program has been in place (2009)		All students in portfolio course or random selection if multiple sections.

Scoring and analysis plan:

1. Indicate how the above assessment(s) will be scored and evaluated (e.g. departmentally developed rubric, external evaluation, other). Attach the rubric.

External panel of professionals will evaluate student portfolios.

2. Indicate the standard of success to be used for this assessment.

75% of evaluated portfolios to be considered acceptable to excellent by panel.

3. Indicate who will score and analyze the data.

Visual Arts Technology faculty.

4. Explain how and when the assessment results will be used for program improvement.

Since the Associate Degree will be phased in over three years the final year that curriculum will still be introduced will be Fall of 2008. One year following full implementation is realistically the soonest any kind of meaningful assessment can take place. Assessment results will be used for degree improvement the next year following discussion with department and external panel.
